INTRODUCTION

Your computer's service panel may become damaged after prolonged use or age. One of the ways you can fix this is by replacing the panel itself.

Step 1 — Service Panel

- Slide the two release latches that were mentioned in the battery removal process to release the service panel.

Step 2

- Slide the service panel toward you using your thumbs.
- Lift it to remove the panel and reveal inner components of the computer.

To reassemble your device, follow these instructions in reverse order.
