

How to Embed a Guide or Teardown

The guide teaches you how to embed an iFixit guide or teardown.

Written By: Julia

10 0 + New Edit Post

the HTML code into your website and the guide will display as a small widget.

But hey, let's demonstrate how to embed a guide with an embeddable guide! Because we're just that meta.

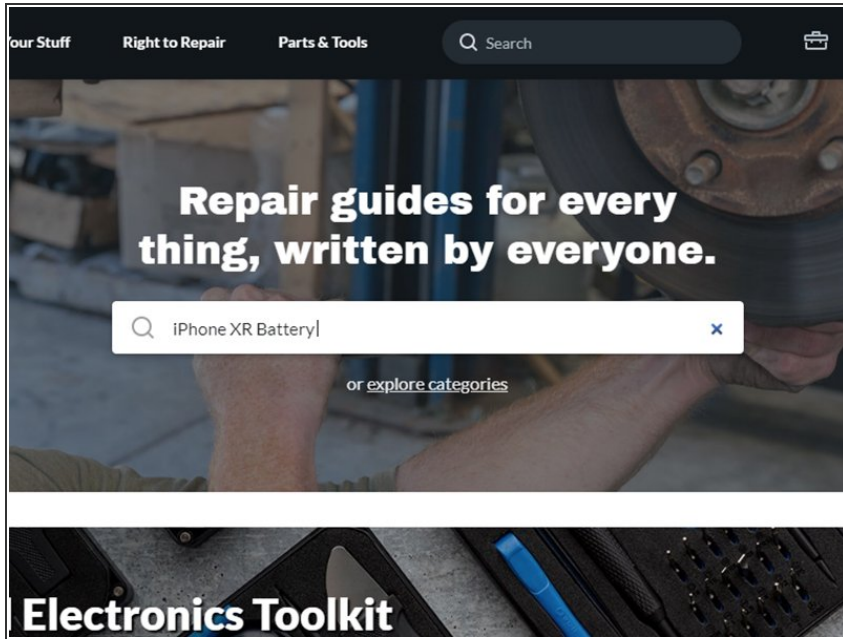

Samsung Galaxy Note7 Teardown
Author: Scott Havard

INTRODUCTION

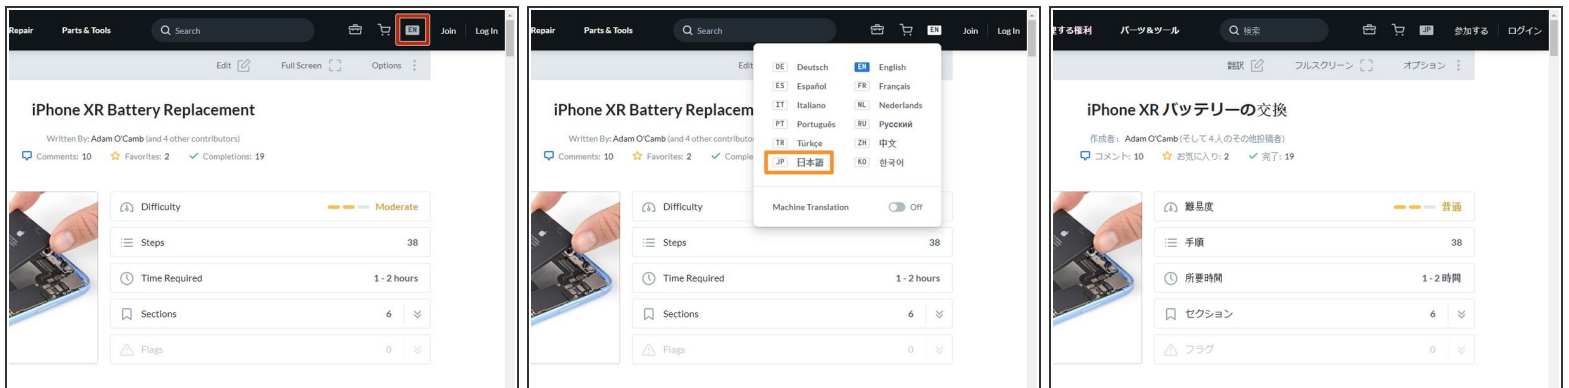

In this guide, you will learn how to grab and embed an HTML code that allows you to publish an iFixit guide or teardown onto another site.

Step 1 — View teardown or guide

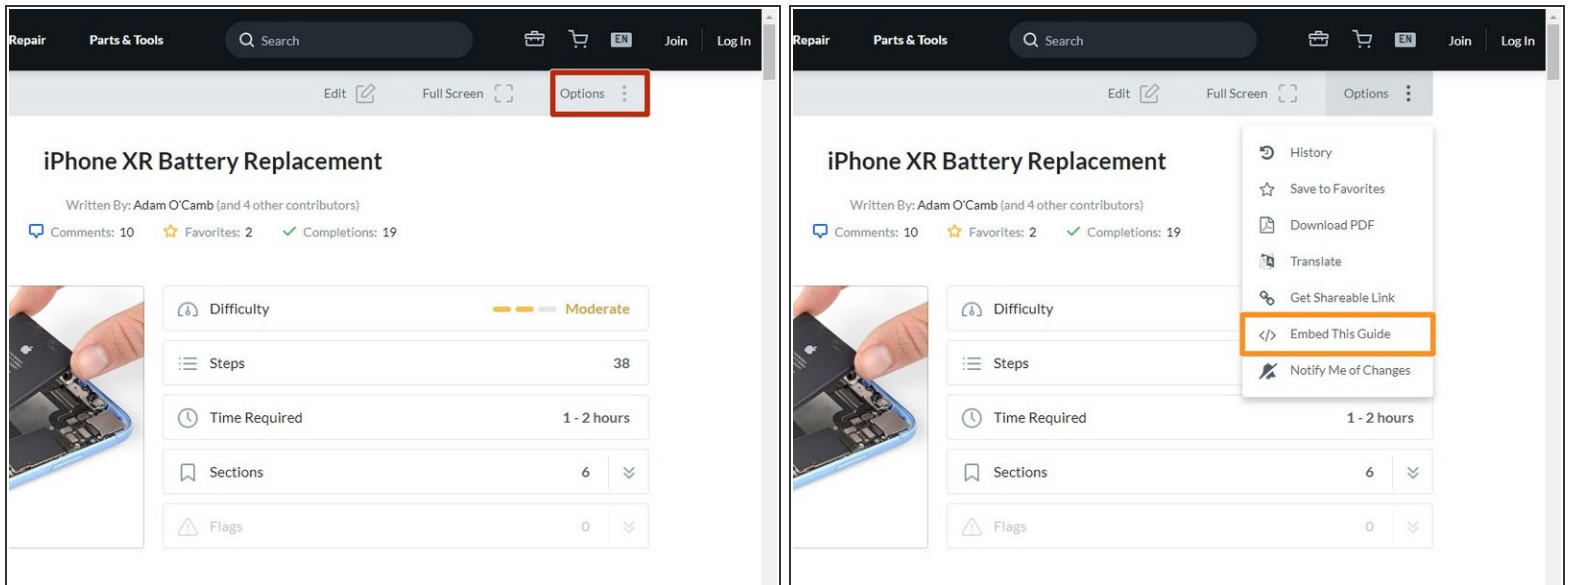

- Navigate to the teardown or guide page that you would like to embed.

Step 2 — Select language (optional)

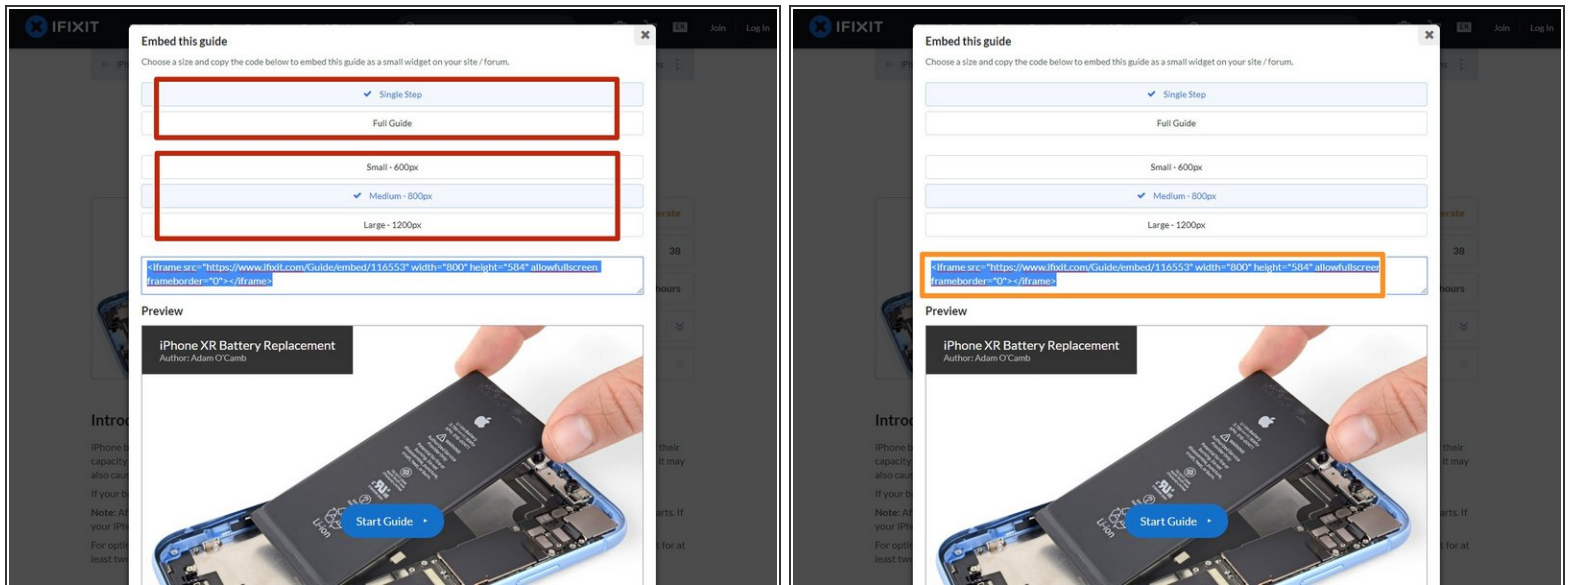

- If you wish to embed the guide or teardown in a different language than the one currently selected:
 - Click on the language icon in the upper right of the header bar.
 - In the pop-up window, click to select the desired language.
 -  The site will load the page in the selected language.

Step 3 — Create embed code

- Click the "Options" button on the upper-righthand corner of the page.
- Select "Embed This Guide" from the dropdown menu.

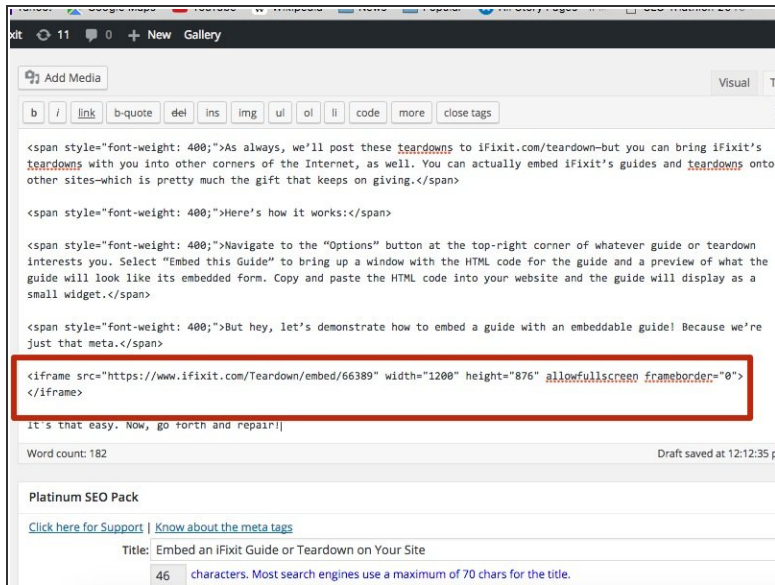

Step 4 — Copy embed code

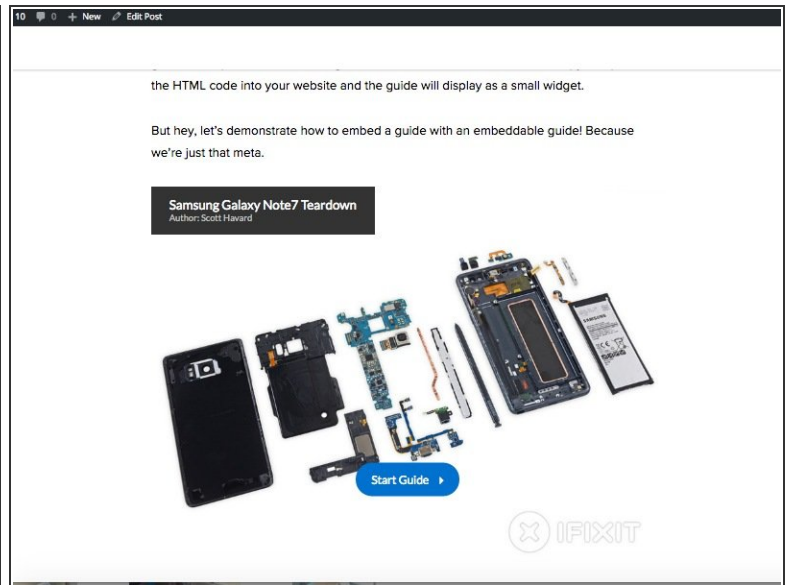

i A pop-up window will appear with an HTML embed code and a preview of your embedded guide.

- Select the size you wish the embedded guide to be.
- Copy the auto-generated HTML code.

Step 5 — Embed guide on your site

The screenshot shows a text editor interface with a toolbar at the top containing options like 'Add Media', 'Visual', and 'Text'. Below the toolbar, there are several paragraphs of text, each enclosed in `` tags. The third paragraph contains an `<iframe>` code block, which is highlighted with a red rectangle. The code is: `<iframe src="https://www.ifixit.com/Teardown/embed/66389" width="1200" height="876" allowfullscreen frameborder="0"></iframe>`. Below the text, there is a 'Word count: 182' and 'Draft saved at 12:12:35 p' indicator. At the bottom, there is a 'Platinum SEO Pack' section with a title field containing 'Embed an iFixit Guide or Teardown on Your Site' and a character count of 46.

The screenshot shows a website page with a white background. At the top, there is a heading 'the HTML code into your website and the guide will display as a small widget.' Below this, there is a paragraph: 'But hey, let's demonstrate how to embed a guide with an embeddable guide! Because we're just that meta.' Below the text, there is a dark blue button with the text 'Samsung Galaxy Note7 Teardown' and 'Author: Scott Havard' below it. To the right of the button is a large image of a disassembled Samsung Galaxy Note7, showing the phone's internal components like the screen, battery, and motherboard. A blue button with the text 'Start Guide' is overlaid on the bottom right of the image. The iFixit logo is visible in the bottom right corner of the page.

- Paste your HTML code into the site's text box.
- Enjoy your embedded guide!