

Plantronics CS50 Headset Synchronization

This guide will show you how to synchronize the headset to the base.

Written By: Joe

INTRODUCTION

The base unit and headset are synchronized together when you bought them. So if you want to use a replacement headset with the base unit (or if you lose your connection to the base unit) you will need to follow these steps to synchronize the headset to the base:

Step 1 — Plantronics CS50 Headset Synchronization

- Ensure the headset is in the base's cradle.

Step 2

- Press the volume control buttons on the back of the base until the front of the base flashes red.

Step 3

- Press the mute switch on top of the headset until the green light on the headset turns on.

Step 4

- Unplug the power cord for five seconds. After the five seconds are over, reconnect the power cord.

Step 5

- When the flashing red light becomes solid, synchronization is complete.
